to date alerting system. The main purpose is to keep the air defense system, of which the Ground Observer Corps is an integral part, ready to operate at a moment's notice without advance warning.

The introduction of non-scheduled exercises is in keeping with the Air Defense Command policy of providing for maximum training to all personnel involved. Realistic conditions must be maintained on the "Friendly Enemies" attempt to sneak through the defense web.

Colonel M. C. Walburn, Commander of the 35th Air Division has warned all Ground Observer Units and Filter Centers that the coming tests may very well be forerunners of actual warfare and that the experience received will be invaluable in case of enemy bombardment.

Captain William B. Walburn, Commanding Officer of the Miami Filter Center, states that the transition from inactive to "Stand-By" status will necessitate a stepped up training program. Citizens are urged to fill the gaps left by volunteers away from the summer.

Mary Foy, Supervisor of the local Ground Observation Corps, asks that anyone interested in being a part of this vital program, contact her. "An hour per month of each person's time is all that will be required to make Belle Glade's Post a strong one," she said.

LOCAL GIRLS RETURN FROM FLORIDA STATE

Suzanne Purcell and Jane Norris returned Saturday from Tallahassee, where they spent a week at Girls State, held annually on the campus of Florida State University.

Suzanne was elected a representative in the 1953 Girls State Legislature.

The girls learned the methods of democracy in action, elected their representatives to mythical city, county and state governments as a method of gaining a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation and of learning the fundamental precepts of government.

Elected, the girls carried out all the duties required under the laws and constitution of the State of Florida, including legislative session, introduction of bills and spirited debates in the House and Senate chambers in the state capital.

1800 ACRE RICE

A few rice fields have shown blast, but this is confined to one type of rice, and does not involve a high percentage of the total crop.

Arrangements for the sale and handling of the current crop are being carried out along the Co-op, and indications are that considerable additional acreage will be planted in the Glades for the next rice crop.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

Every indication points to another record-breaking summer tourist season for Florida.

Transportation companies have discovered that Florida can be sold as a summer playground.

Each summer more and more tourists visit the state. They have returned home and told neighbors and friends that Florida has plenty to offer the summer traveler.

Conditions including an air-conditioned climate, cool nights, reasonable accommodations and entertainment to meet every desire.

Folks who used to scoff at the idea of visiting Florida in the summer time under the assumption that because it is warm in the winter it must be twice as hot in the summer, are now scheduling their Florida visit for this season of the year.

Long before most Florida communities awoke to the fact that summer promotion would pay off, alert Daytona Beach began selling itself as a summer resort.

Each year it has increased its summer business. Hundreds of new hotels, motor courts have popped up like mushrooms and still the area is being pressed to provide accommodations for all who want to come.

Eastern and national airlines led the way in selling Florida as a summer resort. They popularized "piggy bank" vacations and package deals that appealed to everyone.

Greyhound Lines and the "conducted tour" people hopped on the bandwagon and found the butcher, baker and candlestick maker were all prospects. Hotels and resorts that for years had made a practice of closing each summer began staying open.

They found it paid off. Rates were reduced both for transportation and hotel accommodations but the steadily increasing volume of business made it worthwhile.

Railroads finally woke up and are now carrying their share of summer travelers and are advertising more.

Florida's summer convention business has boomed. The chance to combine convention business with a wide variety of sport and entertainment, deep sea fishing, golf, swimming, boating and night riding while enjoying the comfort and luxurious living afforded by swank hotel and deluxe motor courts, made the convention bureau manager's job an easy one.

These conventioners, Shriner, American Legion, Elks and countless others who came here in summer expecting to "roast to death" found it so delightful they came back again and again and brought their friends with them.

Taking cognizance of the potential possibilities of developing more and more summer travel to Florida, the Florida State Advertising Commission has been budgeting more and more for this type of tourist promotion and has found it money well spent.

It will be able to do an even better job now that the appropriation has been increased.

Fish attractions people, Silver Springs—Cypress Gardens — and others, have never discounted summer possibilities and have conducted selling campaigns the year round, and their attendance records reflect the wisdom of this action.

Florida's greatest tourist revenue comes from motor tourists who drive their own cars to the state. This is why it is so important that we provide adequate highway facilities. If turnpikes and toll highways are the answer, the sooner we provide them the better.

Four species of fish in Florida classified as roughie include garfish, chub sucker, mudfish and gizzard shad.

LOCAL BOY TO LEAVE FOR SCOUT JAMBOREE

Lee Braddock will leave Saturday night, July 11, for the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Santa Ana, California. He will entrain at West Palm Beach, together with 25 other scouts from the Gulf Stream Council, with "Mac" Gaskin, Scout Executive and two assistants in charge. They will travel by special train along with the balance of the 50,000 scouts from all sections of the Nation, who will gather at a spot prepared for them by the Boy Scout Organization at the Irvine Ranch, one of the original Spanish grants in California. Along with the special train, the railroad companies have gone "all out" for these scouts, arranging stop-over sight-seeing trips along the way, with the better part of a day allowed for each sight-seeing trip to the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City and Colorado Springs and Pike's Peak.

Lee plans to leave a good supply of Belle Glade "informative" literature and "black gold" at each of these places, as well as having it available for free distribution in California by the thousands of visitors who will call at the encampment during their week of occupation.

The 6th District Band, which is composed of scouts from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, will be on hand throughout the trip, and Lee, who has assigned to him the position of Solo Cornet, is looking forward to a continuous jam session to California.

HIGHWAY PATROL HOLDS EXAMS FOR PATROLMEN

The Florida Highway Patrol is accepting applications for future patrolmen to attend a training school and qualify for trooper openings created by the 1953 Legislature.

State Comdr. H. N. Kirkman said this week all applicants must have come up to rigid requirements, and unless they possess them, making an application would be a waste of time.

Primary qualifications: Age, 21 to 35; minimum height, 5 feet 10 inches; minimum weight, 160 pounds; a high school graduate and a Florida resident for two years.

Kirkman said plans for the school continue to materialize and the exact date and location will be announced later.

Application blanks may be secured from either of the troop headquarters of the patrol in Jacksonville, Miami, Orlando or Tampa, or from the Tallahassee state headquarters by writing Florida Highway Patrol, Martin Building, Tallahassee.

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Luther Jones, Mrs. C. J. Asper, Mrs. George Farris, Mr. Donald Kirkman, Mrs. Johnny Robinson, Mrs. Bert Hosson and a guest, Mrs. H. Howington.

Have'n't heard from members on their vacations, they could at least drop us a card and let us know their golf scores. How about it?

Peter Schaal, advertising director of Silver Springs, recently advocated an annual meeting of representatives of air lines, hotels, municipalities and the State Advertising Commission to map out a year's program of advertising designed to benefit all phases of the Florida tourist industry.

Outdoor Florida

By Herb Mosher
Today's guest column is by one of Florida's most distinguished citizens and sportsmen, Paul B. Dickman, of Ruskin. After much urging from me, Paul finally wrote me his "recollections."

I think I have mentioned in this column how Paul Dickman has managed to raise a tremendous number of quail over on his Ruskin ranch. Quail are almost unbelievably numerous around the cultivated fields (tomatoes, broccoli, cauliflower, sweetcorn and assorted vegetables) as well as in the improved pastures. Evidently the quail find the borders of the pastures and cultivated fields ample cover, for they multiply and thrive there. Of course, the artesian water, running in ditches (for irrigation) undoubtedly has much to do with it, for if the quail do not drink the water, the plants which they depend upon for food and cover certainly do! Anyhow, it's a revelation, the Dickman ranch.

Paul Dickman, a good friend of mine, was voted "Florida Farmer of the Year" in a recent season; and a year later he was named "outstanding Vegetable Grower of North America."

These are just a few of the honors which have been showered upon him, because of his hard work, real achievements and integrity. But Paul loves the outdoors, he likes to stroll with his trusty bird dog in the autumn, to watch the wild things; he is a sportsman and nature lover as well as a farmer and successful cattle rancher and business man. So, readers, I give you Paul Dickman!

RECOLLECTIONS OF AN EARLY DAY . . .
Paul B. Dickman, Guest Columnist, Ruskin, Fla.

Nowadays I like to take my sports leisurely. Some one else can play the baseball games I used to love and spend half the night driving, as I used to do, to reach a special spot in a special lake just at the crack of dawn. I still like to deep sea fish from a comfortable chair and shoot quail from atop a hunting car, but recollections can bring me the thrills I need now in the realm of active sports.

Florida, back when I was a boy, furnished many sporting experiences that come to my memory.

One fishing story stands out above others. It was a beautiful day after school, was out for the year and all young-sters were anxious to take advantage of our free time. Sand Point at the second mouth of my uncle got marooned on an island in the middle of the river. The waves were too high to make a safe crossing and there he sat for hours with nothing to eat. Fish eagles got hungry too and one started to find his evening meal in the shallow water near the island diving from a great height and matching a fat mullet to carry to his nest. Just as he flew over the island a bald eagle attacked him causing him to drop his prey. When this happens the eagle takes the prize home without getting wet but my uncle was the first and when he was rescued late in the evening by a larger boat he said that he had never had a tastier fish dinner than the one that dropped out of the sky.

Nowadays I get my fish from the store. They don't taste the same as they did in the home of the back when they literally fell in my lap!

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From U.S.

WASHINGTON — After seven years of supporting this nation's foreign aid program and voting billions for aid to our neighbors across the globe, nothing is changing. No longer will I vote for blanket support of large sums for these foreign countries. While much good has been accomplished under the Marshall Plan and related, and succeeding programs, it is obvious that all the countries which we have given generously are not responding—either in gratitude or appreciation or even economically as we had a right to expect.

Therefore I favor a more selective program of aid, the elimination from the program of those countries which have not been pulling their oars in the mutual security program, and the reduction of aid to those which have been dragging their feet. I have sought to increase the program for Latin America, our "good neighbors" in this hemisphere, our indispensable allies who under the program have received three-fourths of one percent of the five-billion-dollar program envisioned by this administration.

 AID TO HOME BUILDING. In an eleven-hour rush, Congress finally passed and President Eisenhower approved just before midnight June 30, a revised extension of the Housing Act and various agencies operating under Housing and Home Finance Agency. This measure will ease housing restrictions which had been particularly troublesome to builders in Florida, will permit resumption of the veterans housing program, and will through the mortgage down payment provisions and mortgage authorizations, bring home within the reach of many who are now being forced to rent. It also will help to stabilize the building trades.

"THANK YOU LETTER" — I believe you have also placed the business people of this community deeply in your debt. As we all wear aware, a great deal of the summer prosperity is dependent upon tremendous influx of Cuban tourists who spend very freely in our stores, hotels, restaurants, and other business establishments."

The above is a brief excerpt from a letter, written by a constituent in South Florida with regard to the new U. S.-Cuban agreement on interchange of travel courtesies. Along with some Congressmen I had taken up with the State Department several months ago, the matter of the travel tax and the individual trip visas. Under the new agreement, "tourist cards" good for two years is available for nominal fee and it can be used for as many times as desired. The one per cent fare-tax is eliminated.

Americans will eat 70 1/2 lbs. of beef per person this year compared with 61 pounds last year, according to the research department of the Florida Farm Bureau.

The Bureau points out that this would be the first per capita consumption in 44 years. Hundreds of interested people have toured the spectacular exhibit of James Melton's Automobile at Hypoculus, Florida. Melton's famous collection of early automobiles are on display at this new attraction.

The climate of Florida is such that no cabbage palmetto in any section of the state has ever been damaged by cold weather.

OUTLINE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 12, 1953
LESSON TOPIC — "A Pattern Of Christian Behavior"

SCRIPTURE — Romans 12: 1-21
INTRODUCTION. In the 12th chapter of Romans we find some of the most pertinent and effective counsel concerning the Christian life found in the entire Word of God.

I. The Goal of Life — Rom. 12:1-2. The goal of life is that man should so live as to enjoy God and to glorify Him. Paul realized that Christianity is not merely a doctrine, but a doctrine which results in a new way of life.

II. Basic Christian Virtues — Rom. 12:3-13. In living the Christian life, we must have first of all sincerity; all other Christian virtues collapse unless built on the basis of sincerity. A mighty host throughout the centuries have served Christ by the way they have conducted their business. A sound Christian life needs the support of Christian environment.

III. The Way of Peace — Rom. 12:14-21. Only a spirit of humility and the determination to serve the world with the best one has, will lead one to peace and high purpose. While controversy cannot be absolutely eliminated in the life of a person, it can be reduced to insignificance if there is a mind disposed to render it so. God says that Vengeance is His; therefore our little attempts at vengeance are blasphemous attempts to take God's place. The best part of a man with vindictive nature but it cannot withstand love. Only good can overcome evil; only love can overcome sin.

CONCLUSION. Christianity for the Christian is the outgrowth of a faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour. That is the whole gospel, made forever new by those who believe it, who trust it, and who put it in practice.

THIS WEEK'S SERMONETTE

A WORD TO THE LONELY

Contributed by F. D. Buchmiller, pastor
Seventh Day Adventist Church

The word "lonely" does not occur in the Bible; but its equivalent, "alone" appears frequently.

Its first use is in connection with God's provision against man's loneliness.

And the good Lord said, that man should be alone; I will make a help mate for him.

When God presented that which He had made to Adam, he said, "This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man."

"Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one flesh." (Genesis 2:18-25)

It was not the intention of God that a "dark cell of loneliness" should wall his creature in.

"True," says one. But although marriage is the closest bond of all — and although one is suitably married and the days are filled with love and happy association — a consciousness of loneliness grips one.

That condition can only exist because sin has come into the world and permeated all phases of man's earthly existence. It was not so originally.

A perfect partner must be found before loneliness will cease. One that you can see into and one that can see into you — one that you will become part of, and that will become part of you — one in whom there is no weakness — yet one that can understand the confessions of weakness in you, and one that will not be scared at intimacy.

Such a perfect one can only be found in the have their own mess hall at camp. In the past, they have shared one with Headquarters Company of West Palm Beach.

On the 8th of June, Company "E" was inspected by Brig. Gen. Henry W. McMillan and Col. Robert A. Ballard, and his Staff. The Unit received a general overall rating of excellent. This is the highest all-around rating ever to be earned by Company "E" and General McMillan was very complimentary of the Unit as a whole. The General stated "This Unit, if it continues in the present course, will be one of the finest National Guard Units in the United States." The efforts toward the appearance of the men in rank to be superior.

LT. John H. Cromartie, Company Commander, stated "The men we have in our Unit, here in the Glades, have shown that they are proud of this Unit by their attitude as a whole."

Guardians of the health were selected for the month of June and Pfc. Joe Lovitt, basic Guardsman, and Cpl. Ralph Chamer of Pahokee, advanced Guardsman, had the honor of being chosen. $5.00 in cash prizes was divided between them. They were selected on a basis of military bearing, attitude, attendance, and general knowledge of the material they have covered since becoming a member of the Unit.

Company "E" moved into the field training on the 21st of June. A Field Kitchen was set up and the meals prepared for the men there. Lt. Col. Oliver Hartwell, Bnt. Commander, Major Enoch W. Hunt, Bnt. S-3, and Major Leo A. Smith, Army Instructor, were present for the Saturday night meal. The cooks, James C. Sims and Anthony Toulis, received much praise from everyone for the fine meals they prepared. Numerous phases of combat training were conducted under simulated combat conditions and the training was very successful. All men enjoyed the outing and it gave them a chance to get acquainted with field training in preparation for camp.

The Unit has qualified 57 men out of 61 men that fired on the range. Questionnaires are as follows: Col. M-1 — 2 Experts with Cpl. David Sims of Pahokee being high with 187 out of 188. 21 men qualified as Sharpshooters, and 22 men as Marksmen. The Carbin Cal. 30-3 Sharpshooters with Lt. John H. Cromartie being high with 239 and 2 Marksman. Cal. 45 Pistol-1 Sharpshooter with Cpl. Theodore Johnson of Pahokee being high man with a score of 289. The scores indicated that much effort was put forth into the training of the young men in the use of small arms.

SECOND MEDICAL FORUM ON HEART NEXT TUESDAY

The second Free Medical Forum will be held at the Medical Society, County Health Department and the Heart Association of Palm Beach County on Tuesday evening, August 11th. The interest in the Nation's number one killer was evident from the requests for space in for "Heart" to be a Forum topic.

Dr. Alvin E. Murphy, President-elect of the Florida Heart Association, and Member of the Executive Committee of the local Heart Association, serving on the Panel will be Dr. C. E. Andrews, Dr. Wellington George, member of the Executive Committee of the Heart Association, Dr. O. L. Kelley, a member of the Executive Committee of the Heart Association, Dr. David M. Overstreet, Jr., Dr. J. E. Wood, Jr., and Dr. E. W. Robinson, Jr., and Dr. E. W. Wood, Jr., President of the Heart Association of Palm Beach County, will be assisted by Peter J. Gemble, Vice-President of the Association and Miss Bodenstien, Director of the Association and Secretary of the Free Medical Forum.

The program of the Association has made this far represents the first steps of an effective program to reduce the waste of life and human resources due to heart diseases.

The people of Palm Beach County, 1949, the law was liberalized to include disabled veterans for loss, or loss of use by reason of amputation, ankylosis, progressive muscular dystrophies, or paralysis of both lower extremities or who are entitled to compensation for permanent and total directly service-connected disability for loss of use of both legs due to certain specified conditions such as to prevent the veteran from moving about without the aid of braces, crutches, canes, or a wheel chair, may qualify for assistance in acquiring specially adapted housing made necessary by the nature of his disability.

Dr. Charles M. Harris again issues a call for questions on the Heart Program by saying "The public has selected this topic and now the panel wants the questions. The deadline for Heart questions must of necessity be July 17th. All questions are to be sent to The Free Medical Forum-office, 808 Harvey Bldg., West Palm Beach."

quick-freeze items according to Mr. Osking, to insure that freshness the housewife expects in all quick-frozen foods.

With a 25,000-pound daily capacity in the freezer and a 300,000-pound storage capacity, a million pounds of stringless beans were frozen during the '52-'53 season, with 25,000 cases of tomatoes canned and 135,000 cases of beans canned.

The freezer is automatically controlled at 30 to 35 degrees below and the storage from zero to plus 10 degrees.

In the freezing two popular sizes are packed mostly, the 10-oz. family size and the 2 1/2-pound institutional size.

In order to make the operation a more nearly year-round one, Mr. Osking is experimenting with sweet potatoes to be canned as a candied yam-item. Broccoli and brussels sprouts both offer ample answers to the midwinter off season — December, January and February.

The tomatoes canned during the past year came mostly from the Homestead area, and the sweet potatoes, now in immediate prospect, are to come from Salerno, Indiantown and the Ft. Myers area.

A most unusual circumstance this year prevented the heavy planting of okra in the Glades, but the plant will import this item during July and August, and even up into September from North Florida and Georgia.

For this freezing pack, a special variety of okra is needed and when need was sought, it was found that the supply had been exhausted on account of crop failures and replanting in the okra area further north.

The Glades this year has approximately 4,000 acres of blackeye peas planted, and the yield is generally running 150 to 200 bushels per acre. All of these peas are not being frozen here, as other plants and the fresh market is taking quite a few of them.

Blackeye peas is the only one, so far, that is being grown under contract, according to Mr. Osking. The other items are bought in the open and competitive market.

Plans for the local plant call for an approximate ten months operation, if fill-ins such as the broccoli and brussels sprouts are obtainable for the three winter months, and potatoes materialize as indicated.

Mr. Osking believes that he could use more beans if the labor were available for a two shift operation. During the present summer months, from 50 to 60 people are regularly employed, with 120 in bean time with up to 135 being used when canning and freezing of beans are carried on.

A total of 168,000 hamper of beans were used this season, or the equivalent of 280 carloads; the 4,000 acres of blackeyes at an average yield of 150 bushels makes approximately 7,000 cases.

This canning plant came into being as a "war baby" and served its purpose, for during that time Belle Glade canned beans were eaten by our boys in uniform at every post and camp in the world where they were stationed, and they were stationed in the four corners.

Mr. Osking's efforts to revitalize an investment and the adopting of a war baby to become time uses on a practical and economical sound basis marks a substantial step toward the economy of the Glades.

One item of interest is the waste from the plant. Hulls, as well as a few waste peas mixed along, if dried and made available to cattle feed mixers seems to offer a substantial recovery.

Mr. Osking is planning a move to utilize this waste product as a further tightening of the leaks that many times makes the modern plant a success.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon

SPECIAL HOUSING FOR PARALYZED VETERANS. Certain paralyzed Korean veterans now are entitled to federal aid for homes especially designed for wheel-chair living.

The original benefit, approved June 19, 1948, authorized a federal grant up to $10,000 for use in acquiring such a home. In September, 1949, the law was liberalized to include disabled veterans for loss, or loss of use by reason of amputation, ankylosis, progressive muscular dystrophies, or paralysis of both lower extremities or who are entitled to compensation for permanent and total directly service-connected disability for loss of use of both legs due to certain specified conditions such as to prevent the veteran from moving about without the aid of braces, crutches, canes, or a wheel chair, may qualify for assistance in acquiring specially adapted housing made necessary by the nature of his disability.

Also eligible for the grants are veterans of war or peace-time service in the armed forces since April 21, 1893, including veterans who served after June 27, 1950, who have a permanent total, service-connected disability due to a spinal cord disease or injury resulting in paralysis of the legs and the lower parts of the body.

Eligible veterans will receive a Federal grant of not more than 50 percent of the cost of the home or a maximum of $10,000 with which to buy or build a new home, or to remodel an existing home for their requirements.

The grant also may be used to pay off the indebtedness on such a special home already acquired by an eligible veteran.

Your local Veterans' Service Officer will be glad to answer any questions you may want answered.
